St. Paul's Church Will Observe Tenth Anniversary in Coleman.

Congregations of Pass Churches Will Combine in Community Hall—Orchestra and Special Choir

At 3.30 on Sunday United church congregations of Bellevue, Hillcrest, Blairmore and Coleman will join in an inspiring service to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the United church.

W. H. Moser's orchestra will play special music and a large choir under the leadership of Mrs. R. Upton, A.T.C.M., of Bellevue, will sing. The special preacher will be Rev. A. K. McKinn, B.A., of Wesley United church, Lethbridge.

The offering will be in aid of the Maintenance and Missionary Fund of the United church. The evening service is withdrawn, and all church members are urged to attend the morning and afternoon services of the church. Visitors will be heartily welcomed. In the morning, June 16, Rev. Roy Taylor will speak on "The Great Thirst." Sunday school meets at 12.15 a.m. The help of parents would be appreciated in seeing that the children attend.

MICHEL DEFEATS COLEMAN BASEBALL TEAM

Coleman's baseball team proved easy victims to the Michel nine on Sunday at the local diamond when they were defeated by 12-3. Only three of the regular players reported for the game and as a result Angelo had to pick up six boys to start the game. This was a return game, Coleman having beaten Michel on the latter's ground the previous Sunday.

HOMING SOCIETY NOTES

The old birds' race from Edmonton, 300 miles airline, on June 9, was won by Chas. Makin's bird, velocity 1174 yards per minute. He also won the pool for nominated birds in this race. Slowest time recorded was that of J. Claes' bird, velocity 1134.6 yards per minute.

The next race is from Edmonton for yearling birds on June 16.

C. L. Goocy, Coleman's pioneer laundryman, left here in November, 1932, with his family for Canton province, China. He recently returned, leaving his family in China. He states conditions there are not very good, and there is a possibility his family may return later. His children were born in Canada, and several attended Coleman schools, being bright pupils. One of his daughters corresponds with several old school friends here.

The small things count for much in business. Telephoning to a store and receiving no answer is liable to lose a number of sales, for it is not the one sale that is lost by failure to answer a call, but many others may go elsewhere where prompt attention is given to telephone calls.

The marriage of Miss Betty Poxton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Poxton, was celebrated on Saturday, the groom being Mr. Albert Fauville. In the evening a wedding party was held at their new home in Graftonville, and the young couple were extended good wishes by a large number of friends.

Among those who climbed Sentinel mountain on Sunday were Nora McLeod, Muriel Jackson, Enes Salvador, Marjorie Halliwell, Arthur Robinson, Constable A. Foster, Eldido Salvador, Ernest McCallum, Ed Emery, and "Red".

Contrary to reports over the radio, no delegations of the unemployed marchers to Ottawa visited Alberta Crow's Nest Pass relief camps, and no men went from these camps.

GROUP COMMITTEE COLEMAN BOY SCOUTS TO RE-ORGANIZE

A meeting of the Boy Scouts' Association of the Crow's Nest Pass was held on Saturday evening at J. W. Gresham's office in Blairmore, when it was decided to re-organize the various group committees in the Pass towns.

On Friday, June 14, at 7.30 p.m. a meeting of Coleman group committee will be held in the council chamber to which all interested in the movement are invited to discuss plans and elect an executive to carry on the work of the local troop—I. G. Llewellyn and Rev. A. S. Partington.

A party of 24 Coleman people motored to Waterton Lakes on Sunday and enjoyed the beauty of that fine summer resort.

Strains of martial music floating over the evening air from the council chamber—no, not the councillors singing in harmony, but the town band practising.

A party of about a dozen young people climbed Sentinel mountain on Sunday, returning in the evening tired but happy after their strenuous day.

Returning from the dance at Crow's Nest Lake on Saturday evening, a car driven by a young man named Melanchuk overturned when it slipped off the grade. Melanchuk pulled over to the side to allow another car to pass, and the car slipped in the soft earth. The occupant was slightly injured. The dust raised by cars in dry weather is a menace which increases risks in driving when a number of cars are closely following.

TENNIS NOTES

Preparations are now under way to stage the annual open tournament on the local courts on July 1 and 2. Determined efforts are going to be made this year to bring in star players from outside points, such as Nelson, Cranbrook, Pass clubs, Lethbridge and any other clubs desirous of entering.

Coleman players won four of the five events last year and are again practising strenuously for the tournament. Mrs. K. Wilson, of Lethbridge, singles champion, has again signified her intention of defending her title and has promised to bring a number of other players along with her.

COAL CREEK SHUT OUT COLEMAN 1-0

Coleman suffered their second successive defeat in the Crow Soccer league on Sunday when they motored to Coal Creek and were defeated 1-0. Reports state it was the best game Coleman has played for some time and they were unlucky not to have at least brought back one point.

The locals have signed another player named Hastings, from the relief camp, and he is reported to have played a marvellous game.

The newly renovated Blairmore team are causing the other teams to field their best players in order to win. They were noosed out at Michel on Sunday 1-0 only after the goalkeeper failed to hold the ball, allowing it to fall out of his hands to have Michel score the only goal of the game.

Kimberly will be the guests of the local club next Saturday and with Coleman showing improvement in team play a good game is assured. Kimberly tied with Hillcrest on Saturday, 2-2.

Miss Margaret Roberts left Sunday to resume duty at the Royal Alexandra hospital, where she is a nurse-in-training.

HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh boiling water. After six minutes strain liquid into two quart glasses. While hot, add 1½ cups of granulated sugar and the juice of 2 lemons. Stir well until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water; otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chopped ice.

Funerals Without Flowers

Within recent months the writer has attended a number of funerals, joining with other friends and loved ones in paying respect to a deceased friend. Some of these funeral services have been held quietly and simply in the home, with only a few of the nearest relatives and closest friends of the departed one present; others have been held in churches in order that the larger circle of the deceased's friends and associates in his or her life's activities might be present, or where the religious tenets of the departed might be properly observed. In one case just a few persons were present, people who had voluntarily made small contributions to prevent the remains of the one who had passed on from being consigned to the potter's field.

In the vast majority of cases there were flowers in profusion, wreaths, emblems, sprays, domes and scenes of them, representing an expenditure of many dollars. And the thought constantly protruded itself whether such lavish display of floral tokens was right, in good taste, even in keeping with our Christian beliefs. It could not be questioned that in many, probably most, instances these flowers were sent out of love or a sincere respect for the deceased. Equally true, no doubt, in numerous instances flowers were sent because it has become the custom to send them.

As a matter of fact, as in the case of weddings, the tendency seems to be in the direction of making funerals more and more elaborate, more expensive, more and more something of a spectacle. The quiet and simplicity in funerals of former days has largely passed, until now it has become a source of heavy expense and consequent worry to people who are not blessed with an over-abundance of this world's goods. Yet because of prevailing custom, nobody wishes to appear mean in the eyes of others when called upon to discharge the last duty to a loved one.

Many people think of these things, believe present customs are wrong, but seldom openly express themselves. In a recent spirited article entitled "Decent Christian Burial," Marian J. Castle attacked the extravagance attending funerals. She showed how sums spent on flowers, tombstones, pomp and ceremony, often impoverish the living families of the deceased. She wisely intimated that the dead might be happier if the funds shovelled upon their inanimate bodies were used instead to brighten the lot of the living.

Discussing this same subject, Alma Hedlin, sister of Sven Hedlin, the famous Swedish explorer, says it is in the spirit of the times in her country to seek the simplest and at the same time the most dignified memorial for those we have loved. She outlines various steps taken in this direction, including the provision of funeral insurance through the agency of a society, which takes charge of all funeral arrangements, which are the same for every individual. Payment can be made to the society at any time during the lifetime of the insured, the premium being smaller for the young than for the old. The highest premium is paid by those who are over 70, and is about $75 in all. This provides for a dignified funeral of a kind that might otherwise tax the resources of the bereaved family, especially when the deceased happens to be the breadwinner.

In Sweden, too, they have had since 1921 an organization called the Flower Fund, formed to honor the dead "in a more worthy and more lasting manner" than with one-time floral tributes for the bier. Instead of sending an expensive wreath, the friends of the deceased remit the money to the Flower Fund, which sends to the bereaved family a simple memorial message in the name of the giver. The amount contributed remains a confidence between the donor and the Fund.

It was decided that the money received in this way should be applied to obtaining houses with small apartments for old people in straitened circumstances. When three and a half years had passed, the Flower Fund erected a large building on a site donated by the city of Stockholm. Soon a second house rose by the side of the first, and before long six additional houses were built. By this means the Flower Fund provides for more than a thousand old people. They pay a lower rent than they would pay elsewhere and receive care if they are ill. Otherwise they are quite free, and there is nothing institutional about the place. It is like a private home.

There is a restaurant in each building where residents can buy lunch or dinner for a quarter of a dollar. They may have meals sent to their rooms or prepare them in the small kitchen that accompanies each apartment. Food can be purchased in the building, and there is also a laundry and a bakery. The old people seem to be happy under these arrangements, for there are always more applications than can be filled.

Swedish death notices often contain a line asking that the Flower Fund be remembered. Sometimes another charity is named, for the example is contagious. The important thing is not that the money is donated to a single cause but that the memorial be given a form that will honor the dead by benefiting the living.

Does this Swedish idea not offer a suggestion to the people of other countries? Can we not make our tributes to our deceased loved ones something more lasting than quickly withered blossoms?

Fatal Kiss

Fruitful Method Of Transmitting

T.B. To Children

"The kiss of the tubercular mother is often the kiss of death," states Dr. H. E. Kleinschmidt, director of health education of the National Tuberculosis Association, New York. Dr. Kleinschmidt, who addressed the national health conference at Toronto, said "kissing is a high road in the spread of tuberculosis." While mothers always kiss their children full on the mouth, "they should realize that unless they have been examined and are certain that they have not tuberculosis in a transmissible form, their kiss may be a kiss of death."

Securing Farm Data

Department Collecting Statistics Relative To Agricultural Industry

As an aid to national planning the bureau of statistics at Ottawa is anxious to enlist co-operation of western farmers in the matter of supplying data regarding their holdings.

In June of each year, the bureau, in co-operation with the provincial departments of agriculture, distributes to farmers for the purpose of collecting statistics of acreage under crop and the numbers of livestock and poultry on farms. An innovation of 1931 extended this survey to cover the breeding and marketing intentions with regard to livestock. In all of the provinces, except Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, Alberta and British Columbia, these schedules are distributed to the farmers through the rural school teachers.

Perished In The Desert

Bodies Of Man And Woman Found On Scorching Sands Of Sahara

A searching party found the bodies of an Englishwoman and an Englishman on the scorching Sahara sands recently and rescued two Frenchmen near death from thirst.

The woman, Mrs. Knight, widow of an English aviator who committed suicide recently at Agades, French West Africa, had slashed her wrist apparently in an attempt to end her torture from thirst and heat.

A party of four—Mrs. Knight, Peyton, an English resident of Switzerland, and two Frenchmen, Kneebret and Chaveux—left Agades by truck May 22 for Tamanrasset, Tawarek. After the quartette were missing four days a searching party left Agades for them. It found the Frenchmen in a serious condition beside the truck near a dried-up river bed.

WHY HIS HEADACHES CEASED

Wife Put Kruschen In His Coffee

He could not understand why his headaches he had been subject to suddenly ceased. His wife told him, and he at once sat down and wrote the following letter—

"I am 62 years of age, and ever since I was a boy of ten years, I was subject to very bad headaches. But two years ago the headaches stopped—for what reason I do not know. I was surprised when one day my wife told me I had been using Kruschen Salts in my coffee for over two years. I am still using them, as I know of nothing finer for the system."—J. T.

Headaches can nearly always be traced to a disordered stomach, and to the unassisted retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons by using Kruschen Salts again—and you'll never have to worry any more. And that is just how Kruschen Salts bring swift and lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen Salts aid Nature to cleanse your body completely of all clogging waste matter.

Control Of Press

Irish Newspapers Apprehensive Of Free State Policy

Hints thrown out in Dublin that the department of justice is contemplating to control the press, have created some apprehension among Irish newspapers. Spokesmen of Eamon de Valera's Republican government declare it has never got a square deal from the press, home or foreign.

Weekly letters sent from Dublin to papers published in the Irish provinces have also incurred displeasure of the government, acting through its official information bureau, and detectives of the special political branch of the police have been ordered to pursue inquiries as to the correspondents responsible.

Following a precedent set up by the government of William T. Cosgrave, Mr. de Valera's administration has begun the practice of withholding government advertisements from certain newspapers which actively support the opposition. The Cork Examiner, a daily newspaper in Munster, was deprived of advertising when it refused to publish a press release on the "Grow More Wheat" plan in full and without comment.

A Farm On Wheels

Has Given New York Children A Real Thrill

A crowd of New York school children of Manhattan, who get little thrill out of seeing notables promenade Broadway, went into a state of virtual delirium as they watched a farmer milk a cow.

The farm on wheels, complete with a farmer's daughter, was the idea of James V. Mulholland of the Parks Department, who wanted city children to see what a real barn looked like. Described as a sort of land, it played a number of three-day stands at various city parks.

When it began its barnstorming tour it was viewed by hundreds of school children who flocked to see it in Central Park at a "preview."

The personnel of the travelling "stock company" included a red Jersey Cow and her twin calves, a sheep and two lambs, a goat and two frisky kids about a month old, a white turkey gobbler, a little russet pig and a hen and four chicks.

Testing Station In West

Hog Feeding Tests Now Being Made At Saskatoon

The Advanced Registry hog feeding station at the University of Saskatchewan is now in full use at Saskatoon. This station, the first in the West, will be taxed to capacity this year, according to Professor Grant McEwen. It will accommodate 25 litter tests, and so rapidly is A.L. work progressing in Saskatchewan that it is feared this station will not be sufficient to handle all applications. The first three litter representatives arrived for testing in the Saskatchewan station early in May.

Medical World Endeavors To Discover Virus For Treating Common Colds

There is a virus that has something to do with the common cold and that's what so far has eluded the medical world. When I believe there is a virus which is covered what that virus is, then the cold may be squelched.

"The germs of the common cold are well known," Dr. E. C. Sewall, of San Francisco, told the convention of the American Laryngological Association in Toronto, "although I believe there is a virus which is not yet known. This virus, in my opinion, is the product of all these germs that go to cause the common cold."

Persons who suffer from frequent colds are probably suffering from the same cold all the time, he said. He said a cold creates an immunity of six months or so.

"This," he said, "is probably the reason for the endemic source of colds. These people carry the source of infection in chronic sinus trouble and spread infection to other people."

Old Member Of Mounted Police Receives Official Recognition

An official recognition of his long service with the Northwest Mounted Police in the west's early days came to special Constable ("Gentleman Joe") McKay at Prince Albert when he was presented with the long service medal.

Forwarded from headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa, the medal was presented to Mr. McKay by Inspector F. W. Schutz, officer commanding this subdivision. Mr. McKay retired many years ago.

"Gentleman Joe" is said to have fired the first shot in the Riel rebellion, 50 years ago at the Duck Lake fight.

Naturalized Germans In Canada Exempt From Military Service In Homeland

German residents in the Dominion are exempt from compulsory military service in their homeland, according to an official declaration from Berlin which gives an interpretation of Chancellor Hitler's recent speech in the Reichstag, in which he dealt with military service. It states that Germans who are naturalized in foreign countries will not be compelled to return to Germany to serve in the army.

The invention was reported to employ a special screened lamp, whose production costs of which were said not to exceed $10.

Officers To Retire

Three Assistant Commissioners Of R.C.M.P. To Retire On January 1st Next

Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced impending retirement of three assistant commissioners, A. J. Cawdon of Ottawa, C. Junget of Halifax and J. W. Phillips of Vancouver. They will be granted leave from July 1 and retired next Jan. 1. Assistant Commissioner Junget was engaged in the North West Mounted Police in 1899 and passed through the non-commissioned ranks until he was appointed inspector in 1907. He became superintendent in 1922 and assistant commissioner in 1932. He is now officer commanding "H" division at Halifax.

Assistant Commissioner Phillips, officer commanding "E" division at Vancouver, joined the North West Mounted Police in 1899 and passed through the non-commissioned ranks. He was appointed inspector in 1913, superintendent in 1931 and assistant commissioner in 1934.

Would Abolish Military Aviation

Londoners Vote For Limitation Of Armaments

Universal abolition of military aviation and limitation of armaments were favored by an overwhelming majority in a straw-vote conducted by the League of Nations union in Greater London, the union announced.

On these questions and on the question of supporting the league and forbidding the manufacture of arms for profit, the vote favored the proposals by 1,400,000 to 100,000.

Londoners voted 1,375,061 to 88,521 for use of economic sanctions against an aggressor, whatever the nation might be, and 872,275 to 386,664 for use of military sanctions if they were found necessary.

Young Lambs Make Trip

Loug Jaunt Did Not Appear To Harm Them

Young lambs are good "trailers." Recently the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, moved its ewe flock to summer pasture at Beaver Creek and the ewes, with lambs at foot, made 10 miles the first day and completed the journey easily the second. Some of these lambs were no more than four days old.

"The long jaunt did not appear to hurt the lambs a bit," said Dean A. M. Shaw, "and after their 10 mile trip they were fresh and perky. Of course, the weather was fine, but the interest of particular interest to ranchers and B.C. sheepmen when moving their stock from winter to summer range."

United States Air Base Near Canadian Border Is Again Suggested

Washington—Construction by the United States of a huge defensive air base on an island in Lake Champlain was disclosed by a member of the house military committee to be under consideration by some national defence advocates.

This committee member, who preferred not to have his name used at this time, said he and an army officer recently made an aerial reconnaissance of the Champlain area, and covered Maine, New Hampshire and northern New York.

He spoke especially of one flat, unwooded island 2½ miles wide and 14 miles long. A base could be located there, he said, under the Wilcox air base bill, passed by the house. It designates the New England area for consideration by the war department in setting up a chain of frontier air defence bases.

While the Canadian government recently made diplomatic inquiries about the possibilities of a United States army air base near the Canadian line, the committee member showed reporters a letter from a high British army officer, now retired in Canada, who said:

"The idea of the United States establishing air bases along the border seemed to be a fine idea."

Such a base, or series of bases, the committee member asserted, would be regarded by many Canadians as promoting continental defence rather than defence of the United States exclusively.

Breach Of Contract

Earl Of Egmout, Sued By Calgary Nurse, Settles Bill
Calgary.—"Alberta's millionaire ranchman, the Earl of Egmout, sued by Miss Zita Kerchoff, a Calgary nurse, who settled for a "sum specified sum," it was announced in the district court.

Judge W. A. Macdonald, who ruled there had been a breach of contract, was advised of the settlement.

Miss Kerchoff claimed she was entitled to $80 from the 21-year-old earl, representing a "waiting fee" prior to the birth of Viscount Percival last year. She was dismissed before the earl to the Egmout fortune was born.

New Title Gazetted

John Buchan Is Now Baron Tweedsmuir Of Elsfield

London.—The barony conferred upon John Buchan, governor-general-designate of Canada, was officially gazetted as "Baron Tweedsmuir of Elsfield."

The title Tweedsmuir recognizes the distinguished author's youthful associations with the village of that name on the Tweed. Elsfield Manor in the county of Oxford is his home.

War Debt Parley

Great Britain Prepared To Discuss Question With U.S.

Washington.—Hiding at the possibility of a future war debt settlement parley, Great Britain notified the United States it would not meet the war debt instalment of $85,670,756 due June 15.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, informed Secretary of State Cordell Hull in a formal note the British government had given a comprehensive explanation, in a note delivered last June, why it had been unable to make payments in the past "pending the negotiation of a final revised settlement."

"His Majesty's government," the note said, "have constantly given the most careful consideration to the matter, but they regret it does not appear to them the essentials of the situation have changed since that note was written."

"They observe with appreciation the readiness of the United States government to discuss any proposals for dealing with the present situation and wish to state they will be fully prepared to resume discussion whenever circumstances would appear to warrant the hope a result satisfactory to both governments might be expected."

Loose Thinking

Cranks Busily Engaged In Propagating Weird Theories

Macdonald College, Que.—"Most troubles of the world come from sloppy, dishonest reasoning on the part of individuals," Sir Edward Beatty, chancellor, McGill University, told graduating classes of the school for teachers and school of household science at the annual closing exercises at Macdonald College here.

"At this moment in a time of economic stress, the world which should be full of the activity of those who try to repair the damage done by errors in which every class and every nation have shared, is filled instead with the clamor of an endless series of cranks busily engaged in propagating theories for making us all richer without toil," the chancellor said.

Minimum Wage Act

Ottawa.—With an added provision respecting wages due an employee, the senate banking and commerce committee approved the re-drafted minimum wage bill. The clause inserted provides that in any prosecution of an employer for breach of the act, the court may order payment to the employee concerned of the amount of wages proved to be unpaid or short paid.

Social Credit Plan

Major Douglas Says Present System Will Not Survive Next War

Toronto.—Major C. H. Douglas, British economist who founded the social credit movement, warned sponsors of the present financial system it will certainly not survive the next war.

"You can't borrow yourself out of debt," declared Major Douglas, recently arrived from Alberta, where he advised the provincial government on the possibilities of social credit. The present expedient of developing industries to stimulate business was akin to the classic example of burning the house down every time you wanted to roast pork, he said.

Social credit, Major Douglas told an audience at Marney Hall, would do three things at once: reduce prices to maintain purchasing power, pay dividends to all and provide loans for industry and agriculture practically interest free. The only return for loans would be a small charge for amortization to cover deterioration of property. Anything earned above that would go into social dividends.

Price reduction to achieve increased purchasing power had already been accomplished in England, he said. After the war the bankers had large credit balances which have since been turned into debt balances in order to lower prices. Elsewhere national credit had been used to subsidize industries so that they could compete at lower prices.

Under the present financial system, Major Douglas charged, there was nothing to prevent the spectacle of the greatest crop in history in Canada coincident with widespread bankruptcy brought on by sudden loan calling by the banks. There was no connection, he said, between the amount of wheat grown in Alberta or elsewhere in the west and loans granted in Toronto.

Penalties Are Reduced

Senate Adopts Amendment To Weights And Measure Bill

Ottawa.—Minimum penalties for false or unjust weights under the weights and measure bill increasing the punishment for short weights were reduced by an amendment adopted by the senate banking and commerce committee.

Maximum penalties provided in the amending measure were passed without change. For a first offence, an individual engaged in trade would be liable under the amendment to a minimum fine of $10 and a maximum of $50 for a subsequent offence. The bill as received from the commons had provided for a minimum fine of $50 for a first offence and $100 for a subsequent infraction. The maxima stand at $100 for a first offence and $200 for a subsequent infraction.

In the case of a corporation, the minimum for a first offence was reduced from $500 to $100 and for a subsequent infraction from $1,000 to $500. The maxima set out in the measure of $500 for a first offence and $5,000 for a subsequent infraction remain.

SEES THE KING

Here we see Mr. Stanley Baldwin returning to Downing Street through the garden gate after his audience with the King.

Drouth At The Coast

Crops On South Vancouver Island Suffer From Lack Of Moisture

Victoria.—Scorched by the sun and dried by the wind, southern Vancouver Island is experiencing one of the worst drouths in recent years. Crops in many areas are parched and withered from the three-month thirst. In many cases they have been reduced 50 to 75 per cent, while in others they are pronounced complete failures.

Much uncultivated land is bone dry to a depth of one to three feet, while in some places the drouth has reached the hard pan. A three-inch coating of dust protects the moisture on well-cultivated berry plantations and orchards, but how long before the heat will dry it out is a matter of conjecture.

Some plowed fields are dreary stretches of dusty gray-brown. In some of them, seed which was sown a month ago has not yet germinated.

The Western Sprints

Vanguard, Sask.—Thirteen men with 50 horses and a tractor gathered at the farm of Mrs. Frank Williamson, during the illness of her husband, and put in 140 acres of crop. Charlie Swaney and James Miracle organized the "beo" and everyone joined heartily in the event. The women of the community came and assisted with the cooking.

Earthquake Toll In India

London.—Salvage operations in the earthquake-stricken city of Quetta, India, have been indefinitely suspended. The India office announced, because of the "appalling stench." Official estimates placed the deaths in the Quetta area at 50,000, with 26,000 dead in Quetta itself. Population of the city was more than 60,000.

Stanley Baldwin Is Prime Minister Of Britain For Third Time

London.—Smoothly and speedily the cabinet of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald was replaced by a National government cabinet with younger elements to the fore, and Conservative Leader Stanley Baldwin at the helm, prime minister of Great Britain for the third time.

Ramsay MacDonald resigned the premiership after a continuous years in the post. He will remain in the cabinet, which retains the National government complexion of the previous one, but in the nominal position of lord president of the council. Failing health caused him to change places with Mr. Baldwin, and the latter seems to have made the most of the opportunity to put new vigor throughout the list.

The cabinet is increased from 20 to 22 members. Three of the old cabinet are dropped—Sir Edward Hilton Young, minister of health, who will be raised to the peerage; Lord Sankey, the National-Labor lord chancellor, and Sir John Gilmour, erstwhile home secretary.

The five new members of the cabinet are: Anthony Eden, elevated from lord privy seal to cabinet rank as holder of a specially-created post, that of minister without portfolio for League of Nations affairs, recognition of his diplomatic achievements at Geneva. Malcolm MacDonald, youthful son of the retiring prime minister, promoted from under-secretary for dominions to secretary of state for colonies.

The veteran Marquess of Zetland, was brought into the cabinet to succeed Sir Samuel Hoare as secretary for India. Sir Samuel takes over the foreign secretaryship, and Sir John Simon moves over to the home office. Lord Eustace Percy, former president of the board of education, now minister without portfolio.

Ernest Brown, elevated from secretary to the mines department to become minister of labor.

In addition, the cabinet was widely shuffled, only seven ministers retaining the posts they held previously.

The shifts among the previous ministers are these: Sir John Simon replaces Sir John Gilmour as home secretary; Sir Samuel Hoare replaces Simon as foreign secretary; Viscount Halifax replaces Lord Hailsham as minister of war; Lord Hailsham replaces Lord Sankey as lord chancellor; Sir Philip Cunliffe-Liter replaces Lord Londonderry as secretary for air; Lord Londonderry remains in the cabinet, as lord privy seal; Oliver Stanley replaces Lord Halifax as president of the board of education.

The Silver Lining

Says Canada Is Now Emerging From Depression

Hamilton, Ont.—"A great advance has already been made from the depths of the depression and with the resources of Canada and the enterprise and industry of her citizens, we have every reason to anticipate a continued advance toward a more abiding prosperity," declared Wilson Saunders Morden, K.C., Toronto, newly-elected president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at the annual banquet.

Referring to mechanical improvements, he said the remedy was not to return to hand labor. By way of trial and error the road to progress on sound lines would be found, he declared.

Wheat In Storage

Canadian Wheat In Storage At End Of May Shows Decrease

Ottawa.—Canadian wheat in store for the week ended May 31 amounted to 202,120,349 bushels, a decrease of 2,067,128 bushels compared with the previous week, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. On the corresponding date last year the visible supply was 200,336,042 bushels.

Canadian wheat in the United States amounted to 9,370,703 bushels, a net decrease of 524,322 bushels against the previous week, and an increase of 4,118,502 bushels compared with the same period last year.

Will Try For New Record

Sir Malcolm Campbell To Make Attempt To Better Automobile Record In July

London.—Sir Malcolm Campbell, British sportsman, will attempt to better his own world's automobile speed record at Salt Lake City in July, he announced.

Speaking before an advertising club luncheon gathering, Campbell said he would leave for Utah in July for a new record attempt. He held the record to 276.515 miles per hour at Daytona Beach March 7.

"It's impossible to rely in the future on the beach if you wish to do anything in the region of 300 miles an hour," the sportsman said. "You must have 100 per cent. perfect conditions for high speed. We are now carrying out further tests for our attempt in July."

Frowns On Divorce

Church Of England Rejects Move To Change Ruling

London.—A move to permit divorce and re-marriage in the Church of England, and to urge civil authorities to make divorce laws more liberal, went down to defeat 91-26 before the Church of England synod.

The proposal was introduced by a minority group of bishops, led by Rt. Rev. Ernest William Barnes, bishop of Birmingham. He urged that since divorce was permitted by the civil laws, the church no longer had any need to frown upon it in all cases.

Active Movement To Destroy Public Control Of Radio Said To Exist

Ottawa.—An active movement exists in Canada to destroy public control of radio, Premier R. B. Bennett warned the House of Commons. He exhorted members to pay no heed to it and strengthen, not weaken radio as a public utility.

At the same time it was announced the government will introduce a bill in a few days to extend the life of the radio commission until March 31, 1936. This would permit, as Minister of Marine Alfred Durandau said, "another parliament to decide whether it should be abolished or its power modified."

"The truth is," said Mr. Bennett, "that the effort to destroy this publicly-owned utility is very well known and is very active. Whether or not that utility can be saved will depend upon the attitude of this House of Commons toward it and its willingness to realize country as poor as we are cannot spend at once the money required to make this facility as perfect as it should be."

A large sum of money would be necessary to give perfect broadcasting in Canada, continued the prime minister. The money would have to be spent in one large sum or gradually—and that was a decision to be made later.

"The life or death of our adventure in the field of public ownership depends largely on our willingness to nurse this infant until it can become strong enough to fend for itself."

The house passed a vote of 11,500,000 for the radio commission which approximates the money collected by the marine department in licenses. The marine minister said the commission had plans for building high-power stations in different parts of the country, mentioning Vancouver as one. The difficulty was to find the money to make a start.

Liberal and Labor members embraced the occasion to attack the famous regulation nine of the commission which they claimed forbids any radio speaker to criticize existing legislation. This would puzzle election speakers, they claimed, and practically close the air to opposition candidates.

Mr. Durandau claimed the regulation was not designed to puzzle election speakers but to stop defamatory speeches, prevent slander and broadcasts contrary to the purpose of any election. It had never been used, he said, and he was willing to explain and withdraw it, if necessary.

THE FIRST OF THE JUBILEE DRIVES

Here is a happy picture of Their Majesties the King and Queen greeting Dame Helen Gwynne Vaughan and the Earl Jellicoe when they passed Hyde Park on the first of the four state drives around London as part of the Silver Jubilee celebrations. Seventy thousand children lined the route through Marlborough and gave the King and Queen a tumultuous welcome.

Passing Of Byng Of Vimy, Hero Of The Great War, Is Mourned By Nation

Thorpe-Le-Soken, Essex.—Staunch warrior in war and in peace, Field Marshal Julian Hedworth Byng, first Viscount Byng of Vimy, commander of the Canadian Corps in the Great War and later governor-general of Canada, is dead. He was 72 years old. Death came to one of the empire's most dogged and gifted of fighters after a last-chance operation. Byng had been failing in health in recent years. He returned only a few months ago from another cure journey to Canada and California.

Byng, a soldier all his life until summoned first to the governor-generalship of Canada and then to reorganize the Metropolitan Police of London, at the time shattered in morale, had the hearty respect of the empire's foremost military men, among them that great civilian soldier the late Sir Arthur Currie, who succeeded Byng in command of the Canadian corps.

Genial with reserve, courteous to a fault, Byng of Vimy performed his duties and never followed the route leaders whose jealousy or honest disagreement with superiors found vent in statements or autobiographies.

He was called to the western front a few weeks after the opening of the Great War; he was perhaps the last man in history to wage invaluable cavalry campaigns that now find no place in major warfare; he was the genius of the triumph of Vimy Ridge, under a hundred thousand Canadians under his leadership over-ran that vital rise of land on Easter Monday, 1917, in the only major success of much-promising general offensive.

Byng after that was promoted commander of the Third Army which had support of the Canadian Corps, and saw his Cambrai campaign, one of the most brilliant military conceptions of the entire war, neutralized for lack of troops and support. He was promoted general after that effort late in 1917, and in the spring of 1918 his Third Army hung on valiantly in the teeth of the last great German offensive, modelled on Byng's own Cambrai strategy. He was ready in the final Allied drive, behind the ground-breaking Canadian advance to Mons.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

That mystifying mass of long sentences which puzzles the reader to retain the purport of in the report of Major Douglas just appears to cast more fog in the minds of most people.

Every remedy under the sun is suggested except telling the individual that he must do his part. If people want governments to do all their thinking as well as administering their public affairs, then they must submit to dictatorship. Governments spend the people's money. They do not produce it; it is the taxpayers who do that as a result of their work. The last few years have produced such a lopsided attitude of mind in many people's minds. They imagine the government can work miracles.

What is needed more than ever is sane leadership based on hard, commonsense methods and more individual thinking and acting.

A year ago the writer heard Mr. Aberhart address a mass meeting in Pincher Creek on his theory of Social Credit. Questioned following the meeting as to what guarantee of value he would have for these certificates which were to take the place of Dominion currency, he stated that many of the workings of his scheme were hazy and could only be worked out after a Social Credit party was in power. So much for asking people to vote for a scheme of which even Mr. Aberhart admits he has no definite plan.

People as a rule would not mortgage their future in any kind of a business deal on a hazy mass of words such as Major Douglas has given as a report to the provincial government, and there are already indications that Alberta's finances will suffer from the withdrawal of capital and that its credit is being impaired by the possibility of a chaotic conditions developing.

Government control and meddling in business makes a worse muddle than ever. The effect is seen in the breakdown of the National Recovery Act in the United States; in Canada it is seen in the bankruptcy of the Canadian National railroad. People who want to lean on a government for their support must be content with what the government can provide from taxes. In late years the piling up of taxes to support the unemployed has become alarming.

Men in many cases absolutely inexperienced in the special business of their departments are appointed to cabinet positions and one pointed instance is that the Federal minister of railroads, who is against unified management of the C.P.R. and C.N.R. There are also many thoughtless people who would tax out of business those who have the executive ability to create work. They would kill the goose which lays the golden egg.

Recently Major Douglas reappeared before the Alberta government, and judging from the press report, he leaves a hazy conglomeration of words conveying very little to the average mind, and which the Liberal leader, W. R. Howson, states, requires someone to translate into language which can be easily understood.

The question is, how can people vote intelligently on the meagre information so far received on Social Credit theories?

Though it is demoralizing to be continually without employment and there is a touch of humor in unemployed striking. So much paternalism has been shown and so much sloppy sentimentalism expressed that many who are just malingers would rather accept relief than take a job if it were offered to them. To the men willing to work, everyone would be glad to give a helping hand. But to the agitator and the "never-works" no sympathy is coming, for they would bleed the taxpayers white if they had their way.

Practical Paragraphs

by JOHN EDWIN PRICE.

Many problems face individuals and groups of individuals today. Some of them can, with ingenuity, tact and perseverance, be satisfactorily solved. Others it is best to leave alone for the time being. The man who can quickly make up his mind into which category a problem falls will soon be solving something.

If you are the sort of person who will compromise with your neighbor over a difference rather than let a minor grievance develop into an open breach with long time bitterness then you have that self-control and grace which makes a difference in all the world how I live and how you live and how our neighbors live.

It is still true that some things are good for a man and some things decidedly not so good. If a thought or act is a breaking down of one's standards of temperance, or makes him in any sense less fair to his fellow humans or incapacitates him ever so slightly to face his difficulties manfully, it's not his good.

PUBLIC AWAKENING, NEED ON THE RAILWAY PROBLEM

Impressed with the seriousness of the railway burden overhanging the country, the Orillia Packet and Times comes forward with the editorial suggestion that a plebiscite be taken to decide whether or not the Canadian people are in favor of the unification of the C.N.R. and the C.P.R. Referring to Mr. E. W. Beatty's plan for the joint management and operation of the two roads, the editorial remarks:

"The politicians are afraid of it. They are afraid of the opposition it might stir up, particularly among railway employees, who are a formidable host. The leaders of both parties are said to be conscious of the seriousness of the situation and to be worried about it. Since they are not disposed to tackle the problem themselves, why should not the party leaders submit it to the electors for their opinion by means of a plebiscite? A plebiscite would ensure the discussion of the question of unification on its merits and would settle the dispute as to whether the people are in favor of it or not."

But would it?

It is quite conceivable that at the moment the public would vote for the status quo in Canadian transportation. If it did the railway problem would still remain a problem; the forces of waste and extravagant duplication would be more firmly in the saddle than ever and the C.N.R. deficits would continue to be an Old Man of the Sea on the backs of the taxpayers. There may be public questions which can be settled by a show of hands, but the future of Canada's railways is not one of them.

Settlement of the railway question is not one for sentiment at all. It is simply a straightforward business proposition in which the prosperity of Canada is inextricably woven. It is not a plebiscite that is needed but a public thoroughly awakened to the serious effects which the annual railway deficits are having upon the finances of the Dominion and the increasing taxation for which they are responsible. It was Prime Minister Bennett who said, as recently as last January, that unless a solution is found to the present increasing railway deficits Canada cannot maintain the fabric of her credit.

The first step is the education of the public to the cost of the Canadian National Railways. With a public alert to the danger and need for remedial action governments will quickly fall in line.

JONATHAN HOUGHTON BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

The funeral service for Jonathan Houghton held on Saturday afternoon (June 8, in St. Paul's United church, was attended by members of Summit Lodge, A. F. & A. M., the I.O.O.F. lodge and the Canadian Legion. The body was brought from the family home to the church, a contingent of the R.C.M.P. under Staff-Sergeant Cawsey heading the funeral procession, who stood at the salute on the steps of the church as the body was taken in.

The service was conducted by Rev. Roy Taylor, who spoke of the fine record of service of the late police officer, who had served the town as chief constable since 1919. On the platform were a number of members of the Glee Club, of which he had been a member. The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. A. E. Larke, of Blairmore. A soprano solo was sung by Miss Winona Taylor.

The graveside ceremony, following the committal service by Mr. Taylor, was in charge of G. E. Cruickshank, M.L.A., past grand master of Alberta Grand Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and at the conclusion of the Masonic service "Last Post" and "Reveille" was sounded by Constable A. R. Foster, R.C.M.P., and poppies were dropped on the flag-draped casket by the Legion members.

The service and graveside ceremony was attended by a large number of people from town and district, members of other fraternal lodges in the Pass towns joining with Coleman lodges in the funeral procession.

The pallbearers were ex-service men who were also members of the Masonic lodge, namely: S. C. Short, Walter S. Purvis, J. L. Lonsbury, W. H. Garner, A. McCulloch and H. T. Halliwell.

THERE GOES A MAN

The world is poorer because of the passing of "Lawrence of Arabia." An impatient observer once asked a farmer in a stony section of Ontario, "What do you grow here—rockers?" With a steady, keen look which brooked no trifling, the man of the soil replied, "And men!" What a man was Lawrence! Physically small but physically strong. Courageous yet not cruel. Adventurous yet not foolhardy. Cultured but not haughty. Exceptionally capable in many fields yet not proud. Famous and still modest. A man who dared much for civilization and who had the wit and stamina to carry out the designs which he had drawn on the tressleboard of life. A bachelor and yet a lover of children—sacrificing his life rather than to endanger one. "How are the mighty fallen!"

A LITTLE COMPANY GROWN BIG

IMPERIAL OIL was a little Company in 1880. There was then only a handful of employees. A dozen or so products were the Company's stock in trade.

Today nearly 18,000 Canadian men and women are engaged in making and selling 714 different Imperial Oil Products. So, counting their families, there are about 90,000 people directly dependent for livelihood on this Company and its operations. 90,000 is a lot of Canadians.

Imperial Oil's growth depended upon more than growth in population and demand. Fair dealing, honest value and the ability to meet new needs with new products and new services all played their part. Of course, a loyal, capable staff was indispensable. Such a staff was built up by fair and considerate treatment. Good wages, sickness and death benefits, retirement pensions, group insurance, industrial councils—these are some of the measures by which the Company has recognized its responsibility to the men and women in its employ.

These men and women have recognized in turn their responsibility to the Company. By loyal, whole-hearted service they have helped it to make better products at lower cost and thus become "a big company."

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The 400th anniversary of the first printed English Bible will be celebrated next October 4, it has been announced.

The U.S. bureau of agricultural economics has estimated the total wheat area for harvest this year in 26 countries at 190,954,000 acres, compared with 185,276,000 acres in 1934 and 191,132,000 acres in 1933. Britain has accepted the Sultan of Johore's $500,000 gift, offered as a silver jubilee contribution to strengthen the Singapore naval base, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald told the Commons.

The United States treasury summed up its financial situation for the first 11 months of the year ending in June and discovered it had gone "in the red" $5,135,471,295 during that time.

Soviet Russia's policy in the Far East will be one "unbending as steel" in all matters regarding defence of the country's interests, Karl Radek said in an article in the official newspaper Izvestia.

The venom of the black widow spider is good for relieving the pain of angina pectoris. Its use for this was described to the American Institute of Homeopathy by Dr. Linn J. Boyd, of the Homeopathic College.

The Countess of Bessborough handed over to the board of trustees of the King George Silver Jubilee £237,799 and records of promises that will bring total contributions of the fund to $450,529.

The government has no immediate plans for amending its annuities branch, Minister of Labor W. A. Gordon announced in the House of Commons. The present maximum is $1,200 and the interest rate 4½ per cent.

Alexander Korda, head of London Film Productions, has acquired the sole official world rights for producing a film version of the late Col. T. E. Lawrence's book, "Revolt in the Desert," it was announced in London.

Recovery Obstacles

United States Writer Calls For Reciprocal Trade Efforts

Commercial policies of the United States were described by Peter Moynaux, editor of the Texas weekly and a trustee of the Carnegie, Mr. de Valera's administration, as "the greatest obstacle to world recovery." Writings in "International Conciliation," a publication of the endowment, he said: "I mean the policy embodied in the rates of the Hawkey-Smoot tariff act, the policy exemplified by the American attitude on war debts, the policy which prompted the almost unanimous enactment by congress of the Johnson Foreign Security Boycott act, the policy which every foreign country encounters at our shores and along our borders when it attempts to ship its goods to us in exchange for our own."

Moynaux called the reciprocal trade efforts of Secretary of State Cordell Hull a step in the "right direction." Currency stabilization was held "absolutely essential to world recovery" and he added that so long as the United States pursues its present policies "any lasting of international exchange will be impossible."

Reciprocal Judgments

Fine Provinces Take Advantage Of Dominion Legislation

Judgments of Alberta courts became enforceable in Ontario as the Ontario cabinet passed an order-in-council taking advantage of the reciprocal judgments enforcement act. Alberta took similar action to make Ontario judgments enforceable there, a short time ago.

Five provinces have taken advantage of the Dominion legislation which applies to both supreme court and county court decisions. They were British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, New Brunswick and Ontario.

Vimy Pilgrimage Becomes Great Peace Movement

Registrations Of Ex-Service Men Pouring In To Canadian Legion

The Vimy and Battlefields Pilgrimage of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire War League of which the famous Padre of the Canadian Corps, Canon Scott of Quebec, is Pilgrim No. 1, has already received 548 applications from ex-service men, despite the fact that the ships arranged jointly by the Canadian White Star and Canadian Pacific lines do not sail from Montreal until July 15th and 16th, next year, 1935. In addition twelve hundred applications have been received by the government from ex-service men in the Civil Service for leave for the duration of the Pilgrimage.

This event is going to be one of world significance. It is a Peace Movement on a colossal scale. It is anticipated that over 25,000 Canadians—ex-soldiers, their wives, children, fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers—will visit the cemeteries, the battlefields, and attend the unveiling of the Canadian Memorial at Vimy Ridge.

The all-inclusive cost of the entire trip—as outlined below—is $160.00. Sail from Montreal, July 15th or 16th, 1935; arrive France twenty-four hours; visiting graves, battlefields, towns in France and Belgium, (ships held in French port), July 24th, 25th, 26th; unveiling Vimy Ridge Canadian Government War Memorial, July 26th; arrival England—London Tilbury docks—(ships held four days), July 27th; London (four days), July 27th-30th; arrival in Canada (Montreal), August 6th.

After prolonged negotiations, the Atlantic Conference granted an ocean rate of $120.00 return—the lowest rate possible to obtain. State-rooms (3rd class) and the regular menu will be provided. Freedom of the ship will be granted. Cabin Class will be available to those who wish to pay higher rates. Please remember that Ocean Travel accommodation today is vastly superior to that of 1914-1918.

The remaining $40.00 of the $160.00 is to provide for rail and road transport in France, Belgium, and England, and meals in France and Belgium and breakfasts for four days in England. Passports will also be provided for France, Belgium and England, and accident insurance will also be provided in respect to those passengers acceptable to the Insurance Companies for this purpose. In addition, an official badge, beret, haversack and guide book will be provided. This includes exactly how the amount quoted is made up.

Railway ticket agents, Ocean Line agents and Land Tour Companies are supplied with full information and application forms to take care of the many who will be participating in the Pilgrimage.

The Legion will not profit by this venture. The organization expenses will be taken care of through ordinary commissions. Any balance that may remain in the special Pilgrimage bank account, after organizing expenses are met, will be placed in a special fund and allocated to such veteran purposes as the National Pilgrimage Committee may designate. Consideration has no bearing on the price of the ticket. The ocean rate is set by the Atlantic Conference of Steamship Lines and commissions are also set by the same body so that whether commissions are accepted or not the price of the ticket remains the same.

The potentialities of this Pilgrimage stagger the imagination. Never before in the history of the world has a nation so far removed from the scene of hostilities left so many of its dead buried in foreign soil in a Battle for Freedom. Year to end War, Canada sent 500,000 troops to France. Sixty thousand are buried there today in cemeteries from Ypres to Albert—from Staples to Mons. On Sunday, July 26th, thousands of Canadians and a brilliant array of dignitaries, representing all nations, will gather on Canadian soil at Vimy Ridge to unveil Canada's War Memorial. Completed after seventeen years of unrelenting labour.

This memorial, designed by Walter S. Allward, a Canadian, is erected by the Canadian Government on Vimy Ridge—dedicated by the French Government to the Dominion of Canada—as "That bit of foreign soil that will forever remain Canada."

Major General, The Honourable S. C. Mewburn, C.M.G., chairman of the Canadian Battlefields Memorial Commission, has the assurance that the Government will co-operate and participate in the unveiling ceremonies, at the time of this Pilgrimage.

Belief Not Shaken

You'd think once was enough, but: When Police Sergeant Charles McWilliams of Cleveland went to the home of Mrs. Mary Krafick to question her about the gypsies who stole $900 from her while reading her fortune, he found the woman was not at home. She had gone to another fortune-teller to "have some tea leaves read," her husband said.

Well Qualified For Post

New U.S. Minister To Canada Highly Spoken Of

Norman Armour, the new Minister to Canada from the United States, received complimentary send-offs. The New York Herald Tribune, having spoken highly of his training and temperament, said: "Mr. Armour has the useful—and for a diplomat, the rare—quality of being a 'good mixer.' Incidentally, warm sympathy for the Canadian people and a keen sense of the importance of Canadian-American relations adds to his other qualifications for this post."

The New York Times, having remarked that the appointment of Mr. Armour is a merited promotion, it was also a recognition of the importance of the Canadian post, went on to say: "His appointment to Canada 'regularizes' the position and gives fresh assurance to Canada that we are sending a representative of our best in American cultural background as well as in acquaintance with world affairs. It is highly important that we should have especially competent diplomats in posts nearest our own borders, among neighbors with whom we have most in common."

"Laureate Of Canada"

Sir Charles G. D. Roberts Given Ovation At Authors' Association Gathering

Hailed by the vice-presidents as the "laureate of Canada," Sir Charles G. D. Roberts of Toronto was given an ovation at Montreal as he took the chair at a session of the Canadian Authors' Association annual convention. Writers from all parts of the Dominion rose to cheer the dean of Canadian literature who was created a knight bachelor in the birthday honors list. Professor Watson Kirkconnell, Winnipeg, vice-president, expressed the gratification of Sir Charles' fellow writers on the honor paid him. Prof. Kirkconnell read a discussion on poetry which resulted in adoption of a resolution, moved by J. Murray Gibbon of Montreal, in which the association put itself on record as desiring to sponsor a poetry magazine and empowered the executive committee to arrange for publication if such a project were found to be feasible financially.

Planning National Park

Would Be Scotland's Memorial To King George's Jubilee

A plan to establish a national park for Scotland in the heart of Argyleshire, one of the country's most famous beauty spots, is being promoted. A committee will meet shortly in Edinburgh to discuss the project. The area suggested covers over 30,000 acres in the Loch Long district, and the park would be known as the "Silver Jubilee Forest Park" to perpetuate the memory of King George's 25 years' reign.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUNE 16

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

Golden text: It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful. 1. Corinthians 4:2. Devotional reading: Psalm 96:1-8.

Explanations And Comments
Pride of Possessions May Lead To Forgetfulness Of God, Deuteronomy 8:1-7. The children of Israel are about to enter the Promised Land after their long wilderness wandering, and Moses, their leader, fears they may there become so prosperous that they will be in danger of forgetting God and of failing to keep his commandments. Against this temptation to pride (lest their hearts be "lifted-up") because of fine houses, numerous flocks and herds, and abundance of silver and gold, Moses warns them, and reminds them of what they owe God, who brought them out of bondage in the land of Egypt, and led them through the great and terrible wilderness. He stops to recall the dangers of that wilderness, the serpents and scorpions, the lack of water, and how fresh water and manna were given them that they might realize their dependence upon God.

It is God who Gives Power to Acquire Wealth, Deuteronomy 8:18. The first and fundamental principle of stewardship lies in God's ownership of all things. The God who created life in the beginning has a right to claim upon all life. There can be no property either without society or without God; neither would there be value to property without society or without the God who guarantees all life (Stewardship Lessons). Be Cheerful Giver, II. Corinthians 9:6-8. Generosity in giving will enrich one's own life. Paul wrote the Corinthians. A man who hoards the greater part of his supply of wheat, being left to part with it, would have a scanty harvest from the smaller amount sown, and the hoarded grain, if kept too long, would spoil. It is from a bountiful sowing that a bountiful harvest is reaped, whether of wheat or of good deeds.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

ORANGE VITAMIN SALAD

(Serves 4)

4 to 6 small oranges

Lettuce

¼ cup grated coconut

¼ cup grated carrots

Parse oranges and cut in thin slices. Core slices in halves. On lettuce-covered salad plates, arrange a circle of orange slices, being generous with fruit. Sprinkle with grated coconut and grated carrot. Serve at once with mayonnaise, into which ¼ as much orange juice has been thoroughly blended.

ALMOND WAFERS

¼ cup butter

Flavoring of vanilla

¼ cup confectioners' sugar

Few grains of salt

¼ cup sweet milk

Scant cup bread flour

Grated sweet almonds.

Cream the butter and add the sugar slowly, then the salt. Add the milk as slowly as possible, more than a drop at a time. Then add the flour and the flavoring. Spread in a very thin sheet on the bottom of an inverted roasting pan. Sprinkle over with the grated almonds. Mark in three-inch squares and bake in a very slow oven until delicately browned. Cut the squares apart with a sharp knife and roll them up while warm. They may be filled with whipped cream for serving.

Little Journeys In Science

CHLORINE

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Chlorine is a greenish yellow gas which possesses a very disagreeable odor. When breathed it causes a very irritating action upon the membranes of the nose and throat, provokes coughing, inflammation, and even death. Hence it is called a "poisonous gas." Chlorine may be easily condensed to a golden yellow liquid, and as such is stored in strong leaded cylinders holding from about forty to sixty pounds. It was the first poison gas used in the World War. The first attack was made by the Germans on April 22, 1915. They concealed tanks of liquid chlorine in the front line trenches and the substance was used in the form of gas clouds. As chlorine is about two and a half times as heavy as air, the clouds were carried over the ground by the wind. When there is one part of chlorine to ten thousand parts of air, the struggle for breath becomes acute, and a man would probably be put out of action in about five minutes.

Chlorine, in the presence of water, is a powerful bleaching and disinfecting agent. It is used in commerce for bleaching cotton, linen, wool pulp, and flour, but cannot be used for wool or silk because it hardens and stiffens the material. The bleaching of cotton fabrics and wool pulp for paper require in North America alone more than six hundred tons of chlorine per day. The bleaching process is carried out in water solution and either chlorine or bleaching powder dissolved in water, is used.

Chlorine is also used in preparing certain chlorine compounds such as chloroform and carbon tetrachloride (used in fire extinguishers). It is also used in the preparation of many compounds for chemical and electrical and dye industries.

Liquid chlorine is used in water purification and since its introduction for chlorinating city supplies, typhoid fever has been reduced to a minimum in many of the great cities of the world. Chlorine gas has been used in recovering gold from its ores, and also in recovering tin from old tin cans and scrap tin plates.

One of the most important compounds of chlorine is hydrochloric acid gas. A water solution of this gas is called hydrochloric acid or muriatic acid. This acid is an important component of the gastric juice of man containing from 0.2 to 0.4 per cent, while that of dogs contains about 0.6 per cent. The acid plays an important part in digestion.

Dominion Drama Festival

A Royal Charter Has Been Issued To Assure Perpetuation

To assure perpetuation of the Dominion Drama Festival after the departure of the Earl of Bessborough, a royal charter has been issued, it was announced by Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state. The corporation will be under the name of "The Governors of the Dominion Drama Festival."

In a statement Mr. Cahan said the charter was being issued as a memorial to His Majesty's Silver Jubilee. The charter rectified the stimulation of interest in and the encouragement of the dramatic art in Canada the festival had provided.

The charter gave the new body power to hold real and personal estate and to receive grants. It cannot hold more than $25,000 in real estate. Provision was made, the statement explained, for appointment of general and district officers, granting prizes and awards on such conditions as might be prescribed.

Kansas Organization Of 95 Tots May Take Trip To Japan

Thomas Bruce knows what to do with children who insist upon making loud noises—put them in a symphony orchestra.

His organization, the Kansas City tot symphony, with 95 children ranging in age from four to nine, has proved so popular plans are being made to take it to Japan in 1936, Bruce said.

The children, some of whom started training for the orchestra when only two years old, play such difficult pieces as Bachmann's "Prelude." They also take turns at directing.

Tribute To R.C.M.P.

Sir James H. MacBrien Makes Reference To Honor Conferred By His Majesty

Sir James H. MacBrien, commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who was given the honor, Knight Commander of the Bath in the King's birthday honors list, said he deeply appreciated the honor conferred upon him by His Majesty. "It is not a personal honor so much, I think, as it was a tribute to the good work being done by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police," Sir James said.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

Now Go On With The Story

Thus before they slept that night, the two young people knew that they were to go "out West." The arguments pro and con had waged for a good two hours, Aunt Louise protesting vigorously to the very last that her nephew would return East with the manners "of a bear."

"And I warn you too, young man," she asserted grimly, "that you won't find life on a ranch the romantic dream you're picturing yourself at present. As for your sister—well, at this point of your faltered her and she ended with a tragic creature which caused even Nancy to smile a little. There was no doubt whatever that Aunt Louise could perceive no virtue in what she termed "this wild, ridiculous scheme of Jack's," and even Aunt Louise suggested some reluctance that if he must go, it might be wise for him to go alone.

"All right," he retorted, impatient at what seemed a deadlock, "if I'm to be too much of a hot-house flower to stand transplanting—if she can't take it with a few hardships a time like this will go along, though possibly."

He hesitated, and his father ended for him: "You're thinking that it's Nancy whom Cousin Columbine really wants to come?"

Jack nodded.

"She might not pay my carfare if I went alone, Dad."

"So if you go, it looks as if I'd have to," said the girl bitterly. "I suppose if I get unbearably fed up with everything I can walk back."

"Two thousand miles on the hoof?" grinned her brother, though perfectly aware that she spoke with sarcasm.

"That's where your pioneer blood shows up, my dear! If you find our aged relative too impossible you can turn hitch-hiker. See here! I promise solemnly that if you can't stand the job after a month or two, we'll hitch-hike back together. The experiment won't cost Dad a cent, and the chances are we'll have a whale of a good time."

"Good time!" sneered his paternal aunt, when Mother interrupted: "But, Louise, can you see any especially good times for the children if they stay at home?"

Every one turned to her in surprise; while Aunt Louise responded: "Surely, Margaret, you don't approve of this idea?"

"Not wholly; but I've a feeling that both Jack and Nancy will be happier in absolute new surroundings for a time. It's not easy for young folks to adjust themselves to such radical changes as we'll have to make. Of course I shall worry about Nancy; but if she's too unhappy I think we can manage to bring her back without the necessity of hitch-hiking! What do you say, Nancy?"

It was then that Nancy, glancing at her father as if for help, saw something in his face that made her heart contract. For the first time she realized what this catastrophe had done to Dad. Why, he looked old! she thought in consternation. He looked worried—rightfully worried; and all this talk was worrying him still more. Yet here she was hesitating to accept a chance to earn her living just because the thought of doing something hard—going so far away, seemed unendurable. What had Jack called her the other night? A parlor ornament? Well, he was right, wasn't he? That's about all she measured up to. For one swift, illuminating moment, the girl saw herself as Cousin Columbine, and was honestly appalled. Dad would never admit it, but her absence and Jack's would be a help just now. All this and more went through her mind in a revealing flash before she answered with new-born bravery:

"Of course I'm going! I had to get used to the idea, that's all. It may not be very exciting at Cousin Columbine's, Mother, but it'll be interesting, won't it—seeing new things and places? Let's not talk any more. It's settled as far as I'm concerned. Come on, Jack, we'll better make a list of things to take."

"And don't forget your flannel nightgown," spoke up the little brother; so after all, the discussion ended on a smile.

CHAPTER V.

Waking suddenly at a nerve-racking jolt, Nancy sat up, wondering in that first startled instant, where she could be. Then her brain cleared and she realized that she was aboard a train headed for Colorado, and wondered if they had run into some thing, and if she ought to waken Jack or get up and put on her clothes. Surely there had been no such jolt the night before. For a moment she listened tensely in expectation of some confusion; then realized the window shade, peering out the dim, grey light of early morning.

The train had stopped before a station and her car was directly opposite the brightly lighted restaurant. Nancy could see a girl of about her own aged dressed in a crisp, white uniform, serving some trainmen at a long counter. She wondered if the waitress had been up all night or was just beginning her day's work. Probably the latter, for she looked fresh enough—but what a ghastly hour to go to work.

A man and woman carrying suitcases emerged from the waiting room, and a moment later Nancy felt their brush by her section, speaking to the porter in hushed voices. A cheerful time to be starting on a journey, she thought ironically, but perhaps out here where the distances were so great, one had to start when one could.

There followed another jolt. Evidently the engine had been detached and was coupling on again. The wheels turned slowly, and then faster. Nancy strained her eyes to catch the name of the station—Dodge City—and shivering a little, pulled down the shade and snuggled under the blankets.

So they were still in Kansas. Kansas! The idea that she could be there was incredible to Nancy Nelson. Why, Kansas had always seemed as far away as the North Pole, and fully as unattractive! People lived there, of course, but not people like themselves. At least, that was how the girl had thought about it; yet that waitress in the lunch room looked—why she looked every bit as up-to-date as the girls behind the lunch counters at Thompson's Spa on Washington Street in Boston.

This comparison brought a wave of homesickness to the unwilling exile. What a three weeks it had been since Jack received those telegrams from Cousin Columbine! Such a hectic time. Aunt Judy starting off for Europe with those crazy Spear girls. Hurried trips to Edgemoor with Mother. Packing. Deciding what to take and what to leave behind. Getting tickets and reservations. And those last awful moments at the South Station with Phil wanting to know how he made the sections into beds and asking a thousand foolish questions—Mother smiling unutterably to keep from crying—Aunt Louise arriving at almost the last second with a box of candy, and Dad, his face so terribly set and stern.

Just to recall it made Nancy shudder. Even Jack had lost his enthusiasm for a time and hadn't talked much until the train left Worcester. But a meal in the diner had restored his courage, and since then he'd been the jolliest of companions. She hadn't realized before how nice her brother really was. Not once had he compared her to a hothouse flower or a parlor ornament. Not even when he caught her winking away some tears as the train pulled out.

Nancy slept after a while, but not for long. It was Jack who awakened her, slipping down from the upper berth and snapping up the window shade.

"Wake up, sis!" he commanded in an excited whisper. "Look where we are! Why, that's—that must be prairie!"

It was! Nancy sat up, almost as excited as her brother. Prairie! Miles and miles and miles of it, stretching endlessly into a far horizon. Neither of them had dimly realized the vastness of those great plains they were to cross—plains which lay desolate by morning sunlight, softly undulating, as far as their astonished eyes could reach.

For the first time since starting on this journey, Nancy forgot her homesickness and was thrilled. She drew a breath born of both amazement and delight. To one whose entire life had been spent either in a crowded city or surrounded by the sheltering, green hills of New England, such limitless space was almost unbelievable. For a time she watched this unfamiliar world slip by, too awed for anything save exclamations. It all seemed wonderful: a herd of grazing cattle, a clump of cottonwoods beside an irrigating ditch—a schoolhouse set in curious isolation considering its purpose; and in the distance patches of green about some lonely ranch.

Even Jack was silent, too interested, perhaps, to comment; but at last he said: "Let's dress, Nancy. I want to get out and sniff this air at the next station. Breakfast at Syracuse anyhow, and say! I think the sun looks brighter here than it does at home."

This was no idle guess. The sun was brighter—the air more sparkling. Nancy admitted that she had never breathed such air. They cut short their breakfast in order to have more moments to pace the platform. "And in no time now," said Jack as they swung reluctantly aboard the train again, "we'll be in Colorado. I wonder who Cousin Columbine will send to meet us."

Nancy smiled.

"Do you remember her first letter? I was to sit quietly in the station until called for!"

"So you were! Do you suppose they'll keep up waiting long? Gee, Nancy! I just can't realize that this long trip is nearly over."

Neither could Nancy; but all too soon they found themselves waiting their turn to leave the train. Good-byes to friendly fellow passengers had been spoken. A smiling porter had brushed away the cinders. Nancy, standing behind Jack in the narrow passage, realized suddenly that the hands clutching her pocket-book were trembling. Indeed, all the fear that had gripped her on leaving home was back again as she emerged into the sunlight and joined her brother on the platform.

Jack, smiling a negative to an approaching red cap, rescued their bags

"WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT SASKASAL"

Says Regine Womans
Indigestion Goss, Can Eat Anything
Read this letter: "For several years I had been troubled with indigestion and could eat very few foods which agreed with me. A friend of mine suggested that I try Saskasal, which I did, and it has completely cured me and now I can eat anything. I would not be without a bottle of Saskasal in my home, and I hope others may benefit as I have done when they know of your wonderful remedy in Saskasal." Saskasal is Nature's own Mineral Salts. Its alkaline action neutralizes over-acidity in the blood and thus makes it a valuable natural remedy in all cases of Constipation, Rheumatism, Liver and Kidney troubles, Indigestion, Biliousness, etc.

Famous Doctors Have Spent Months Alone In Interests Of Science

It is not only in the frozen regions that men have exiled themselves for the sake of science. The famous Dr. Koch spent eighteen months, alone except for the white helper, on a desolate island in the centre of the great African lake, Victoria Nyanza. He was investigating the dreaded sleeping sickness which was destroying the natives of the islands and shores of the lake, and made the discovery that the fly which spreads the disease lives on the blood of crocodiles, which it sucks between the scales. Destroy the crocodiles, and the carrier perishes, too.

Another man of medicine, Dr. Andries Verhagen, banished himself to the centre of the vast island of Sumatra to investigate beri-beri, another terrible tropical disease. On the way he was wrecked, and he and one companion who reached the shore in safety tried to make their way to the nearest native village.

They got into a swamp and were attacked by leeches, not the ordinary bloodsuckers, but a poisonous kind. Dr. Verhagen lost one eye and came very near to losing his life. Yet after he had recovered he continued his journey and gained valuable information about a cure for beri-beri.

Largest Music Library

Recognition Given To B.B.C. Collection Is World-Wide

A music library that began thirteen years ago as a tiny top floor room in the Strand, London, has now grown to be the largest of its kind in the world. Housed on the steel shelves of the British Broadcasting Corporation, this working library comprises 20,000 musical titles, ranging from a simple ballad for soprano and piano to a symphony in several movements. There are 100,000 vocal scores, covering the entire field from gram-opera to musical comedy. The library contains some music not to be obtained elsewhere and thus brings the most notable productions within reach of the general public. Already ten million British homes rely on the B.B.C. Library for their musical fare, the excellence of which has received worldwide recognition.—The New Outlook

Gordon Riots Will Not Be Depicted In London

Deploring the Gordon riots of 1780, one of the 12 historical episodes being rehearsed for the Tower of London Pageant in London, has been banned by the British Home Office. No reason, it is understood, has been given for the ban, but another episode is to be substituted. The object of the pageant is to raise funds for the Tower Hill Improvement Organization, of which the Prince of Wales is patron. Lord George Gordon, headed the mob which, in June, 1780, marched in procession to the Houses of Parliament to present a memorial petition against the Catholic Relief Act. A riot followed and continued for several days, during which the city was virtually at the mercy of the mob.

Flags Took The Rent

In one street in Ardwick thickly festooned with streamers and massed flags for the King's Jubilee, the following message was inscribed in whitewash on the roadway and pavement (reports the Manchester Guardian): "Warning! This street is closed to landlords. Rent spent. By order."

Dutch airplanes recently carried a record cargo of gold valued at about $15,000,000 from Amsterdam to Croydon, with no special guard.

"What's the trouble now, Anne?"
"I made up my usual tried and tested Pickle recipe, but a friend of mine told me to use Keen's Mustard. It was cheaper, I did. It spoiled the lot!"
"That's too bad, Anne. You'll stick to Keen's after this! It is the pure mustard, so you always know just how much to use and you need never waste or spoil anything."

KEEN'S D.S.F. MUSTARD

Made from seed grown especially in the Fens of England. The shells or hulls are removed, all the time being in the inner part of the seed. A superior grinding makes the full flavor readily available. Is original (not as imitations are).

Little Helps For This Week

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Matthew 19:19.

So others shall Take patience, labor to their heart and hand, and thy heart,
and thy brave cheer,
And God's grace magnify
through thee to all.
The least flower with a brim-
ming cup of gladness,
And share its dewdrop with another near.

What is meant by our neighbor we cannot doubt, it is everyone with whom we are brought into contact. First of all he is literally our neighbor who is next to us in our own family and household. Then it is he who is close to us in our own neighborhood, our own town, in our own street. With these all charity begins. To love and be kind to these is the beginning of all true religion. But besides these, as our Lord teaches, is the one who is thrown across our path by the changes and chances of life, he or she who whoever it be that we have means of helping, the unfortunate stranger we may meet in travelling, the friend whom no one else cares to look after.

Guard Health Of Tourists

Ontario tourist camps are to be investigated by the health department this summer, to make certain proper sanitary conditions are observed. Hon. J. A. Faulkner, minister of health, said when addressing the Canadian Public Health Association, in convention at Toronto.

During the worst dust storm ever known in Iraq recently 2,800 tons of dust to the square mile fell in the Bagdad district.

In the sound library at the Paramount studios, Hollywood, there is stored a file of more than 10,000 different sounds for use in films.

Russia is training more than 30,000 air pilots and mechanics through her military organization annually.

Don't Let Mosquitoes Spoil Your Holidays

Take "Mecoo" spray in readiness—and if you do get stung, simply rub the spot with Mecoo. Stops the itching and reduces swelling. Better still—spray the exposed parts with "Mecoo" as a preventive. "Skeeters," Black Flies, etc., hate "Mecoo."

Mecoo Ointment is sold by all Drug-stores—40c, 75c (Tube), 50c and $1.00.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

The news really worth while is found in The Journal. Many send copies to relatives and friends in other lands.

A baseball league game between Coleman and Bellevue on Wednesday evening resulted in the latter winning by a score of 6-4.

Arthur E. Robinson, who has been employed in Coleman for the past month, returned to his home in Calgary on Tuesday.

Mrs. Walter Dibble left on Wednesday for Calgary in response to a message informing her of the critical illness of a relative.

With an increase of commercial printing, Ernest F. Gare is giving a hand in keeping the wheels turning for the great family journal.

Britannia Paint Works, G. K. Sirett & Co., have just completed painting the exterior of Dr. Borden's residence. The firm carries its advertising announcement in this issue.

W. G. Sundén, radio inspector of the Department of Marine, was in the district this week checking interference and attending to other matters in connection with radio reception and broadcasting.

Encourage the young people. It is to them we look for courage, initiative and enterprise. As people grow old they become set and it needs the dynamic energy of young people to keep the wheels of progress revolving.

Dr. R. H. Campbell, will open a dental office in Coleman, in the building next to the post-office on Main street. He is a graduate of the University of Alberta, and will commence practicing as soon as alterations are completed to the building.

Some people are woefully lacking in knowledge of the fact that one good turn deserves another in other words they will take all the good turns, but ne'er will they extend one if the opportunity offers. Often do these instances come to the attention of a newspaper editor.

Death of Mrs. Andrshak

Mrs. Helen Andrshak, 38 years, living on Second street, died on Monday morning, and the funeral service was held this morning (Thursday) in Holy Ghost church by Rev. Father Dunbar. She leaves to mourn her death her husband and three children, a boy nine years, and two girls six and four years. Mr. Andrshak is employed at McGillivray mine.

Believe It or Not!

A neatly printed weekly newspaper is an asset to a community. It reflects the loyal spirit and enterprise of the worth-while people. Readers are urged to consult the advertisements and buy from Journal advertisers, for they are the leaders in their respective lines, and are dependable merchandisers.

The Journal is a believer of reciprocity. We boost for those who support us in our endeavor to publish a weekly newspaper worthy of Coleman.

Complaints Re Dumping Refuse

Under the town by-laws, ashes and refuse must not be dumped on any town property, but is to be removed to the dump outside of the town limits by the appointed man. Complaints have been made of individuals not complying with the by-law, while others are observing it. The law should apply with equal effect to all. The law provides for prosecution of those not observing it. Make it a clean town by co-operation and don't wait to be told.
